There are several websites that have been set up by Chinese authorities aiming to monitor, investigate and censor both illegal and questionable content published on other sites such as Weibo. The following is an example of a page on one of these sites.",

On December 11, 2017, TikTok launched a new update that would enable users to mask their faces on video. The full name of the mask is called "TikTok face mask". The company said that it would take this feature global in 2018.", Musical.ly has been targeted by spyware developers who have attempted to take advantage of vulnerable accounts. In March 2018, "CNET" reported that the company had pulled PathMate, a tethering app which could be used to record and spy on users' mobile video activity; however it still remained on iTunes and Google Play Store after its removal from Musical.ly's website. In June 2018, mobile security firm Lookout released a report noting that spyware apps were disrupting IMEI access through compromised Musical.ly accounts. Lookout also found that spyware apps were being offered as Musical.ly "likes" or "cheats", with some marketing them as offering or allowing access to features that the app otherwise does not have. The report also noted that it was possible for users to be infected just by scrolling through the app's stories without clicking on anything, and users would often have no idea they had been compromised until a notification popped up telling them to install an update to their security software in order to remove malicious threats.", Users of the app have the option of connecting their account to other social media accounts such as Instagram, Facebook and Twitter. This allows for easier sharing of content through other social media apps. The app also has a live feature that can be activated through opening the "Live" tab on the bottom right corner of the screen. When activated, this feature allows users to view others' broadcasts without them having to create a live story and even allows them to comment on others' broadcasts while they are ongoing without affecting their viewers' activities.",

In August 2018, Musical.ly announced a partnership with the National Music Publishers Association (NMPA) to promote and protect the rights of American songwriters' publishing royalties, providing them with legal assistance regarding digital licensing of their songs for use on platforms such as Musical.ly.",
